I want to get the file extension(.sh,.pl) from the directory path, so I could have a file chooser to select a application to run the file. A: you can get all the extensions from files with the following snippet: package require Tclx::Util set openList { .bat.exe.rc.w.wma.wmv } set fName [glob -filetypes -directory {/usr/X11R6/bin/} {*} $openList] # now get list of file names that have that extension set extList [lsort -dictionary -integer -decreasing { -file -extension $fName}] Now you should have a list of extensions separated by commas in SEXTLIST variable. Q: Toggling CSS class using JavaScript I've setup a jsfiddle that makes use of the Collapsible Accordion plugin (I've got the plugin working properly, but I'm struggling to get the CSS class to toggle. Here's my code: var $j = jQuery.noConflict(); function removeActiveClass(groupName){ var el = $j('.accordion #' + groupName); el.parent().removeClass('active'); el.parent().removeClass('parent'); } function addActiveClass(groupName){ var el = $j('.accordion #' + groupName); el.parent().addClass(570a42141b
